Fc barcelona logo picture

Logo of Barcelona PNG
The Barcelona Football Club logo includes several heraldic symbols with a long and interesting history. The most important changes in the logo occurred in 1910. After that, the emblem did not go far from its roots. Meaning and history
The visual history of FC Barcelona visual identity has ten designs of its logo, although the last one, held in 2018, has brought an emblem that has never been used by the club. All other versions of the logo are a graphic representation of the club's evolution and progress. Built around a heraldic symbol, her logo is immediately recognizable all over the world, and look like it was created today. 1899 — 1910
The initial Barcelona badge included a heraldic roar enclosed in a green garland with a golden crown, which had a black bat with its wings spread over it. The rombo setting featured a red, yellow and white geometric pattern: the badge was divided into four segments, where the upper left and lower right has a Red Cross on a white background image, and the upper right and lower left — red and yellow vertical stripes. Depending on the layout, the emblem could be used alone or enclosed in a double circular frame with a title "Foot-Ball Club Barcelona 1899" in bold sans-serif. 1910 — 1920
The first interpretation of the iconic logo that we all know today was presented in 1910 and features an elegant shield and decorated with a gold profile. The shield was divided horizontallytwo parts from a large white banner where the black "F. C. B." Lettering was written in a simple sans-serif. The upper part of the shield consisted of two parts — the left with the Red Cross on a white background, and the right one with red and yellow vertical stripes. As for the lower part of the emblem, it was composed of three red vertical stripes and four blue. Yellow calcium in clean and clean lines was placed in the middle of the striped segment. 1920 — 1936
The silhouettes and colors of the badge were first revised in 1920. The signs became brighter due to the use of lighter shades of red and blue. The white flag with a wordmark now presented a yellow background, which made the badge happier and more enthusiastic. The shape of the shield has also been moved into a more rigid and modern form. 1936 — 1941
In 1936 the club decided to return to the color palette from the beginning of the 20th century, but now the banner with "F. C. B." is black, while the writing is white. Gold football is designed more detailed now, with smooth black lines that create a classic model. 1941 — 1949
In 1941 the word mark changed from "F. C. B." to "C. F. B.", and the black background of its banner becomes gold again. The overall composition of the Barcelona badge remained unchanged, although all contours were clean and refined. 1949 — 1960
The plaque is redesigned in 1949, and now is "C. De F. B.", which stands for "Club deBarcelona". The colors of the badge in this version and mute and dark, and also gold football, which has always been bright and visible, has become burgundy-brown. The banner with the writing is performed in a monochromatic palette, which refreshed the emblem with its contrast. 1969 — 1974
The palette of the delighted and bright colors returns in 1969. A lot of yellow gold particles and an intense red calcium is what makes this edition stand out from all the versions previously created. The logo of the 1970s evokes a sense of joy, charm and friendliness. 1974 — 1975
With the 1974 redesign, the gold flag becomes white again, and yet all other elements retain their intact colors. The shape of the crest has been modified and now its upper part has characterized pointed spikes. The word is again written as "F. C. B.". 1975 — 2002
A more modern expression and a brighter color palette — this is what the 1975 redesign led to the visual identity of Barcelona. The solid black letters presented a massive geometric sans-serif shape, which seemed brutal and powerful on a yellow background. Football has gained a new shade orange calm and finally became visible again. To celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the club, the crest was placed in a blue and red circle with the "1899-1999" timepiece in white, horizontally placed on both sides of the shield. 2002 — Today
The Barcelona badge we can see today was inaugurated in 2002 and is a modern interpretationprevious versions. the most crucial change in the 2000s is that the points were removed from the text. now the writing "FCB" in a popular sans-serif face seems clean, delicate and evokes a sense of professionalism and fundamental approach. football is drawn in gold and black again, and equalizes the golden frame of the crest and the flag with the sign of word. 2018 (unused)
the next version of the logo was designed for the club in 2018, but it was never used, as it was denied. the main controversy of this emblem was in total absence of any letter on it. and the wide gold flag was replaced by a narrow gold line. sources
the face of type sans serif present on the logotype of barcelona is called interstate bold. was developed by Tobias Frere-Jones and officially introduced by font bureau. colors two of the most important colors of the fc barcelona blue and red (made at the bottom of the football logo) come from the first uniform of the club. Moreover, the fc is often called "Blaugrana", because these are the names of the colors in the Catalan language. It is not yet known whether the colors come from the colors of the founder joan gamper fc zurigo or from the colors of the merchant taylors school, where they studied two of the best known players of the club, arthur and ernest witty. Why is the flag of the land? one of the structural elements of the fcb logo is the red cross in the white background – what is known, for example,the flag of England or the flag of the international movement of the Red Cross. What is the link between the football club and England or the Red Cross, can anyone ask? In fact, the red cross on the white background (called Cross of St. George) is a universally recognized heraldic symbol, which has been used in a variety of contexts. The history of the Cross of San Giorgio dates back to the Middle Ages. Most likely, it began to be used as an emblem in the 12th century. St. George was a charismatic saint, who, according to legends, played an active role in the early crusades. He was known as patron of many cities and countries. It is believed that the Cross was the symbol of the Republic of Genoa in the 13th century. It was later adopted by several areas of Northern Italy, from Bologna to Milan. One of these areas was Catalonia, the community in Spain that includes the province of Barcelona. Therefore, the reason why the cross appears on the FC Barcelona logo is simple – is one of the historical symbols of Catalonia. England was also one of the lands that adopted this cross, while St. George became the "national synod" here after the English Reform. To sum up, there is no flag of England on the FC Barcelona logo, it is the Cross of San Giorgio both on the English flag and on the emblem of the football club. Alloy
