google maps is hand-down one of the best navigation apps on android and iphone, but considering most of us use it while driving, it is easy to lose some of its features. If you're new to google maps or a veteran, let's take a look at the best ways to get the most out of it. save your home and your work addresses the first things before, adding in your home and work address makes using google maps a little more enjoyable, because it simplifies browsing in both places. Tap the three-line menu bar in the search box, then your places, and add your home address and work. add more destinations to a tripneed for lunch snag on a long trip? or stop at the pharmacy while you get home from work? set multiple destinations makes it easy, although it is easy to lose that it is also an option. you have two different ways to add more stops. first, map the directions for your final destination as always. then, tap the three-point icon in the upper right corner > add stop. enter a second position and the maps navigate between them. you can add up to nine different stops here. Alternatively, you can add a stop along the route half way through a unit. This makes more sense for something like snagging lunch on a road trip or if you are walking in a city you need a quick cup of coffee. go ahead and start browsing to your final destination. Once the maps are browsing, tap the great search button, then look for anything you need. maps will show you onlyalong the current path. Save your parking space In the latest version of Google Maps, you can have Google save the parking space. When you park, you will see a pop-up asking you to save your location. Do so and you can then add additional information, as in what lot you are or how long it is on your counter. This function is brand new, so if you do not see it at this time keep an eye on it in the coming weeks. Using maps to save positions You are interested in depending on how you use Google Maps, you have a couple of practical ways to save positions. Historically, My Maps has always been the go-to, but this requires you to have access to a desktop computer. Go to My Maps on your computer and you can create a private or public map accessible on Google Maps. This is useful if you are trying to create a holiday itinerary, plan an event, or are working on a collaborative map with friends. Yesterday, Google updated its long forgotten My Maps tool. The service was masked as... more useful when traveling is a new list function. Search for a place in Google Maps, then tap the Save button. Here, you will find a list of your places, including predefined lists called Favorites, Wishes to go, and star spots. You will also see an option to add that location to a custom list or to create a new list completely. I found these lists useful both for planning holidays and to trackl want to do when I'm home. come also useful when you have family in the city and desperately need to find a good restaurant that you have been close. you can also share these lists or make them public. this means that even if you do not do your legwork to plan a vacation, you can collect the rewards of someone more organized than you. If you want to save a location in google maps, for years your only option has been to add a little... discover your story to see every trip you took by default, google maps maintains a history running each trip you took. this is very fresh and useful or very disturbing, tap the three-line menu button, then settings > map history. here, you will see all the different places you have sailed to. If you don't like google maps does it, you can turn it off by browsing the game at the top of the screen for off. personally I don't see any oo in keeping a story because I'm not an amnesiac in a christopher nolan movie, but you might find yourself useful. use the button explores to find interesting places around if you are in a new place and you have no idea where to start, the explore button is incredibly useful. tap the three-line menu button, then explore. you will see a list of options of food, coffee and bar. I have ignored this small function for a long time, but since I accidentally hit it once or rather frequently. download maps for offline view if you have a bad data plan with your phone orinternational travel, offline maps are a must. Search for a city or place name, then tap the name or address in the bottom bar. Tap the Download button to save that map. You can see what you saved by tapping the three-line menu button in the search bar, then touching Offline areas. In most cases, you can still browse and search for destinations in this mode. Android: Google Maps is receiving an update today that will add in a ton of information to download . Read more Zoom One-Handed If you are going around with your phone trying to navigate with Google Maps, pinching to enlarge is difficult. Instead, double-tap on the screen, then drag your finger up and down. This zoom on the map. Send directions from your computer to your phone If you are looking for directions to a place on your computer and want to do the actual navigation on your phone, you can send the data to your phone until you are connected to your Google phone account on both devices. First, look for a destination and find a route. Once done, you will see an option to send directions to the phone (or car, if it supports Google Maps.) Dig Deeper Into Transit Directions If you use public transport, Google Maps is a fantastic way to bypass and Google does a great job of providing a lot of search parameters to hone search results. Search for a destination in Google Maps, then tap the public transport button. Here, you will see a list of the various ways to get todestination. If you need to change the time around, tap the Depart button and change it in any option you need. You can also tap the options button to optimize results, including public transport forms you want to use (or not use), and change how much you walk to do. The last transmission mode you used will always be the default If you use a lot of different modes of transport and rebound between different styles of directions, then you may have noticed that Google saves your last mode used as the default. So, if you have received the directions for the last time, you will get directions for your next research. You can always change the modes by tapping the great transit mode icon on the search results and then select the mode you want from the options bar. Avoid highways, tolls and other options Sometimes, you do not want to face with the highway guide. In those days, it is nice to force Google Maps to avoid highways. Enter your destination, then tap the three-point icon at the top right. Tap the Route Options button. Here, you can choose to avoid highways, tolls and ferries. Most importantly, you can also activate if Google Maps uses the options for each trip or just this. If you want to always avoid highways, tolls, or ferries, set the memory settings to activate. If you want to do this just for this trip, set it up. I prefer to leave it in the off position so don't accidentally rout me somehow strange because I forgottorn the highways back. Adjust the driving volume and where it plays You wouldn't think that something like the driving volume would be important, but if you are driving in a car with strange speakers, it's nice that Google gives you a lot of options. Tap the three-line icon in the search bar, then Settings > Navigation Settings. Here, you can set the volume on soft, normal, or strong. You can also choose whether voice navigation plays on Bluetooth or not. You can also disable navigation completely, or choose the "Alerts Only" function so you are only alerted to traffic, construction, or accident alerts.
