Thank you for visiting our website because I am not excited to find out what will make a lot of sand to the interiorat this point old sewing machine, and to keep the sand dry and well contained at all times, I am going to pebble together a small bag for each compartment, put the sand inside, and permanently seal with tape. garbage bag, bulky plastic sheets, whatever you have on. It doesn't have to be very hard, because it's denim work. This part really took it for real to find out exactly what I had to do. My math was off the road, I thought I would need shorter bags than the bag strip is wide, to almost fit into the compartments while sewing them, but it is not really necessary, and only fill them deep into the slots while sewing it was easy. TLDR; just make them the same width of your strip. If you have a small scale, you're lucky. I ended up putting about 1lb 14oz of sand of the playground that I had laid around in each bag. Drop it a bit, seal it and put the bag in the slot. So flatten it is approximately the size that will be in practice, measure the height and multiply the number of bags in your strip. Highest tip of the usual gun mount point, so you will have a little more, and to take into account any slack that could lead to a smaller bag strip than expected.
