The Vedic Birth Chart follows the rules of Vedic astrology that were penned by the ancient sages in the Vedic scriptures. It’s also called as an astrology birth chart or natal chart. It shows the positions of the sun, the moon and the planets based on a person’s place and time of birth. Diagram of a Vedic birth chart with the zodiac signs. Importance of Vedic Birth Chart The Vedic birth chart or janam kundali gives an accurate reading of an individual’s characteristics with precise information. With the complete knowledge of the exact locations of stars and planets, you can arrive at almost perfect predictions. A native’s rising ascendance called as lagna is also available in the Rasi chart. It helps determine the degree of the ascendant in relation to the planetary positions. The readings also include rising of the moon and sun on that specific day the individual was born. Predictions are made by considering the positions of the six planets from the sun along with lunar phases. Importance Of Planetary Positions In The Astrological Birth Chart With regards to horoscopes in Vedic astrology, the planets represent twelve different signs. Every planet has specific facets and also rules over various aspects of the birth chart. The sun and the moon always own one house each. Additionally, every planet rules over two houses based on their longitudinal intersection with the cusp. A Vedic Birth Chart in astrology showing the 12 zodiac signs and houses. Planets in various signs reflect your qualities and your characteristics, including your hidden potential. Every planet represents a particular level of energy at a given point in time. Additionally, the positions of heavenly bodies at the time of your birth have an effect on every single event in your life. Importance Of The Time Of Birth An individual’s past karmas decide their time of birth of an individual. Hence, one’s time, date, place and the year of birth is very important while reading the birth chart. Due to this, the Vedic birth chart predictions are very authentic. However, the constant movement of celestial bodies makes predicting the birth time a difficult task. The ascendant also keeps moving continuously and, therefore, every minute is vital. Thus, information on the exact time of birth is vital for making astrological predictions. Reading The Birth Chart You need to read a birth chart in the anti-clockwise direction, starting from the lagna or the point of ascendance. Trine Houses These are the first, fifth and the ninth houses that are powerful and auspicious. The Quadrants The fourth, seventh and the tenth houses form the quadrants. They too are powerful and have fortune bearing prospects. A comprehensive table showing how a Vedic birth chart has to be read. Growth-oriented The third and the eleventh houses influence personal growth. Malicious effects The sixth, eighth and the twelfth houses bring misfortune and hardships. The conjunction of planets is the presence of two or more planets occupying the same house. The effect can be beneficial or disastrous based on the combination of planets with the sign or houses that are inhabited. The nodes of the moon, Rahu and Ketu also give different results in line with the signs and the alignment of the planets. Accuracy Of The Birth Chart Vedic birth chart analysis is accurate only up to the third level. This is mainly because the birth time detail is usually never completely accurate. Even in the case of exact birth timing, some errors will show up beyond the third level. Complications also include differing opinions of Vedic astrologers regarding the birth time. Birth Time And Characteristics In a Vedic astrology horoscope, people born during different timings have different characteristics. They are as follows: A sample horoscope depicting the Vedic birth chart. Born between 12:00 AM and 2:00 AM The natives are keen on learning new things. If Mercury rules the third house, the individual will also have a sharp mind. Born between 10:00 AM and 12:00 Noon The natives are disciplined and will achieve their goals with aplomb. Apart from their career, they are also family oriented . Usually, their mother is their role model in life. Born between 4:00 PM and 6:00 PM These individuals are very peaceful and give importance to love. They are intelligent and also polite and sensitive. Born between 8:00 PM to 10:00 PM These individuals influence and guide others in their lives. They are also joyful, knowledgeable and make true leaders. These people spend a lot of time in interacting with friends. Born between 10:00 PM to Midnight Peace of mind is their priority and they love to experience new things. They also value time greatly and are stable for the most part of their lives. They also value honesty in others. Conclusion Vedic birth chart interpretation is the process of studying an individual’s life in line with their past. Thus, the study is predominantly about the different houses and planetary positions that affect a person’s life in profound ways. The study also helps the individual take corrective actions wherever required to ensure a fruitful life. How to Make Janam Kundli/Vedic Kundli To make Janam Kundli we require the following essential information: 1. The exact time of the birth of a native 2. Place of birth 3. The exact date of birth For the calculation procedure of the Birth Chart, there are two methods used widely. 1. Traditional method using Ghati-Phalas of Panchangas. Nowadays, this method is not in much use. 2. Modern method using the table of Ascendants/Ephemeris. However, due to the advent of modern Computers, the casting of Horoscope has become relatively easy and mathematically accurate. Hence nowadays, the manual calculation of the Horoscope is mostly used for an academic purpose only. You can generate your Vedic Kundli here. You can download your horoscope and then also use these free downloadable handouts for your self-study. Here is a video from the Astrology course you can watch for basic understanding of birth charts. Components of Vedic/Janam Kundli The sign rising in the Eastern Horizon at the time of the birth of an individual is the Ascendant / Lagna. Lagna is the starting point of the horoscope. The entire horoscope comprises 360° of Zodiac which is divided into 12 equal sectors, each consisting of 30°. This segment is known as Zodiac Sign or Rashi (12 x 30° = 360°). There are 12 Rashis in the Zodiac each is ruled by a planet. Similarly, each sign owns a house. That means we have twelve houses with twelve lords. And the sign lords automatically become House Lords once that sign owns a particular house. The house, signs, and their lords are listed below: To know more about the characteristic of your Ascendant Sign and the significance of different houses, you can download the Astrology Handouts here. Methods of the casting of Vedic Horoscope There are different methods of casting the horoscope however North Indian method is most widely used and the South Indian method is more prevalent in Southern parts of India. 1. North Indian method 2. South Indian method In the North Indian method, the Ascendant sign is a starting point and from here remaining signs are marked in an anticlockwise direction. The houses are always fixed. In the South Indian method, signs are fixed starting from the second box from the top left with sign Aries, and the remaining signs follow in a clockwise direction. In this method, the houses are movable, and the signs are fixed. How to Read a Horoscope In Vedic astrology, each planet is assigned a certain function, each sign certain characteristics, and each house certain signification. Hence a horoscope can be delineated based on the synthesis of the position of planets, their mutual relationships, aspects, strengths, and significance of a particular house under consideration. For example, the Ascendant sign or the First house of Vedic Kundli represents the body of an individual. It means anything related to the physical body is seen from the Ascendant. So if planet Venus is placed in Ascendant, the native will be good looking, Venus being a significator of beauty. However, this is a generic interpretation and subject to modification based on several other factors of Janam Kundli. Hence for accurate analysis, all aspects of Vedic Kundli need to be studied in depth. In the astrology course, Om Swami Ji has beautifully explained all aspects of reading a Vedic Kundli in a simple yet practical way which provides the roadmap of reading the horoscope effectively. How can I cast my Vedic Kundli without birth time? If you don’t know the exact time of birth, then an expert astrologer can still cast your horoscope based on past events of your life and advance birth time rectification techniques. Can Vedic Kundli predict a love marriage? Yes, love marriage can be predicted by studying Janam Kundli. For example, the fifth house of Janam Kundli signifies “Romance” and the seventh house “Life Partner”. Hence, if the fifth house is related to the seventh house then there is a possibility of love marriage. However, the important question is “Is it necessary to see Kundli for love marriage?” This question has been thoughtfully answered by Om Swami Ji, in the Astrology course, by citing a beautiful experience; you can listen to it here.
