Brocade fabric os administration guide 8.2.1x

in storage area network, fabric os is the firmware for the switch fiber channel of brocade communications systems and for the directors of fiber channel. It is also known as [1] first generation fabric os was developed at the top of a vxworks kernel and was mainly used in brocade silkworm 2000 and in the first series 3000 on 1960 intel. still today,[when?] many production environments are still running the old generation silkworm models. second generation the second generation of fabric os was developed on a powerpc platform and uses linux mountaineering, a linux derivative with real-time performance improvements. with the advent of mount, switches and directors have the ability to activate the hot firmware (without downtime for the fiber channel fabric,) and many useful diagnostic commands. according to the terms of free software licenses, brocade provides access to distributed free software sources, on which fabric os and other brocade software products are based. Other licensed products other products for fabric os are offered by brocade for one tantum. are authorized for the oo in a single specific switch (the license key is coupled with the serial number of the device. ) among these: integrated routing adaptive networking: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 8.0: 8.0: 7.0: 8.0: 8.0: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 8.0: 8.0: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 7.0: 8.0: 8.0: 7.6.3: Fillwords 2 and 3 introduced in Fabric OS 6.3.1a 6.2: Virtual Fabrics-capable 6.1: M-EOS 6.0 compatibility improvements: LDAP LDAP supportOS 5.x 5.3: Switch to Linux 2.6 kernel 5.2: 5.1: Access Gateway mode 5.0: Fabric OS 4.x 4.4:structure: 4.2: 4.1: SSH support, multiple user access 4.0: Fabric OS 3.x Fabric OS 2.x References ^ This web software article is a stub.
